Update on Marijuana

A plaintive letter from a reader triggered this study. The writer, who asked for anonymity for an obvious reason questions this publication's handling of articles relating to arrests on marijuana charges. The writer could have been a youngster. Or it could have been a youngster's mother.

What excited this writer's interest is the approach the writer took. It was not a complaint of the legality, morality or hazard to health in the use of marijuana. What bothered the writer was the concern that acquaintances would learn of the "bust."

Conditions of health, loss of freedom, or a newly acquired police record seemed not to matter. It was asked only that the matter be kept a secret between subject and the police.

There is something wrong with our marijuana philosophy. Most youngsters and many parents won't buy it. The law seems strong enough; the penalties are stiff enough — only embarrassment seems to be a deep concern to marijuana buffs.

Maybe enough heat isn't put on pushers; maybe not enough emphasis is given marijuana education.

Whatever the cause, we don't have the cure.

Here is the letter:

"Dear Editor:

I am writing in response to your recent front page articles on pot busts in our area.

"My objection is to the person's full name being used. Initials should be adequate. An example taken from your February 6 issue 'Where There's Smoke...'

"Shortly after 1 a.m. Sunday sheriff's deputies stopped George Zanzibar (fictitious) of 550554 San Marino ave., Spring Valley... etc."

"Would it change the article that much if you used the initials — G.Z. of Marino ave., Spring Valley?"

"I don't know if you have any children but you sure wouldn't want all your friends to know your child was busted for drugs. I believe the problem should be known only to the people involved. You would be shocked if you read an article like this:

'BAD-HEADLIGHT STOP PRODUCES POT CHARGE'

"Shortly after 1 a.m. Sunday a car driven by (your child's name) of 8504 Palm st., Lemon Grove, was stopped because of a bad headlight. Officers noted the strong odor of marijuana in the auto and a search revealed 35 grams of marijuana, a roach clip and four mini-bonnies. (Your child's name) was booked for possession of marijuana, restricted drugs and paraphernalia."

"Would you want all the people you know to know also? I think there should be something to protect the people from further grief. What do you think?"

Name Withheld

Dear Name:

As long as marijuana is illegal, the penalty so severe and the apprehension so embarrassing, leave it alone! As long as marijuana use is illegal and those who are caught with it are charged with a crime and the name of user listed in official records, the embarrassment of publication of the information is always possible.

The Editor

We knew that State assemblyman Bill Craven had been doing a study on the political significance of legalizing marijuana. The issue had come up at state level on several occasions and Craven does his homework well. We asked him of the status of legislative activity.

Here is what he supplied:

Five years ago, legislation was enacted making unlawful possession of marijuana punishable optionally as a misdemeanor or as a felony. If a person convicted of simple possession has been previously convicted of any specified drug-related offenses, it is a felony and punishable by longer maximum and minimum terms in state prison.

Attempts at decriminalizing marijuana in the Legislature and through the initiative process have failed. In 1972, an initiative qualified to place the question before the state's voters (Proposition 19). By an overwhelming two-to-one margin, the people of California turned down the proposal to eliminate the criminal sanctions against the personal use of marijuana.

When Proposition was transformed to Assembly Bill 376 in the 1973-74 session, it failed passage in the Assembly Criminal Justice Committee.

Law enforcement officials who believe that possession of marijuana should remain a criminal offense cite the following reasons:

(1) There is increasing evidence that marijuana is an especially harmful and dangerous drug. Dr. Hardin Jones of the University of California at Berkeley has testified before the Senate Select Committee on the Control of Marijuana that marijuana causes changes in the brain function which lead to antisocial behavior. Dr. Gabriel Nahas of Columbia University has conducted studies that show that marijuana substantially reduces the immunity of the human body. Research conducted by the Reproductive Biology Research Foundation of St. Louis has indicated that marijuana may cause sterility in men, and that it is especially dangerous when used by pregnant women and by young male adults.

(2) The laws prohibiting the possession of marijuana have a substantial deterrent effect in reducing the use of marijuana.

(3) The fact that when compared against all felony and misdemeanor arrests, marijuana arrests comprise only six percent of all arrests made by law enforcement officers in the state. This statistic refutes the claim of the Senate Select Committee on the Control of Marijuana, which held that 25 percent of police time is spent enforcing this "minor" crime.

(4) The California drug diversion program ensures the violator that the punishment fits the crime, and he is not exposed to the hardened criminals if sent to prison.

In 1973, California recorded 90,000 marijuana arrests (about 70 percent of them adults); there were 73,000 arrests in 1972. Many of the offenders went into the drug diversion program. Of those who went to trial and were convicted, most were convicted of misdemeanors and were placed on probation. The Department of Corrections reports that no one is currently in prison for simple possession.

The California Peace Officers Association favors the present law because it gives police the flexibility they need to apprehend the major dealers.

Law enforcement efforts are directed primarily towards the pushers of marijuana. Many of those arrested for pos-

WET HAZARD — H.W. Jollett, owner of Jollett Motors, 7644 Broadway, scoops a handful of slimy silt from the pavement of his used car lot after a recent rain storm. Jollett has been complaining to deaf county ears since 1960 about the inadequacies of the storm drainage system near his property. Heavy rains such as those that fell the past week cause water to back up several feet onto his property, leaving the silt which becomes a slippery hazard to pedestrians.

Five Local Men Snared As Pandering Suspects

Sheriff John Duffy's determination to reduce the county's growing prostitute population took an effective turn Wednesday night, March 5.

His men arrested seven persons on felony charges as they rounded up those he said were pimps or panders in the East County.

All were arrested on charges of attempting to lure women into becoming prostitutes and working for them.

Sgt. Fred Cleveland of the Sheriff's Office of Special Investigations said the arrests came after several months of investigations in which female undercover agents were asked to become prostitutes after being contacted in several business locations.

Five locals

Five local men are listed among those charged. Arrested were Antonio (Tony) Luciano, 42, 1109 Madison, Apt. C, El Cajon, owner of Luciano's Pizza House, 1289 Broadway, El Cajon; William J. Deacon, 27, 9308 Lake Canyon rd., Santee, a machinist at Solar; Edward L. Maxey, 41, 10625 Old

Board Offers Teachers 2.1% Pay Raise

The Lemon Grove School District Board of Trustees emerged from an executive session Tuesday night with a counter proposal to teacher's request for a salary schedule increase.

The Certificated Employee Council made a request for a 5 percent raise effective in the current school year, at the February 11 board meeting.

The board's counter proposal was a 2.1 percent increase retroactive to March 1 which would carry over into the 1975-76 school year.

The counter offer now goes back to CEC for approval.

session are believed by police to be peddlers, for lack of evidence cannot be convicted of the more serious offense.

CURRENT STATUS

Governor Brown throughout his campaign repeatedly said he would sign an equivalent of the "Oregon Law." The Oregon Law states that possession for personal use of one ounce or less is punishable by a maximum $100 civil fine.

Last year Governor Reagan vetoed AB 2758 making possession of a small amount (two ounces) for personal use a misdemeanor.

Senator George Moscone, Chairman of the Senate Select Committee on the Control of Marijuana, has introduced SB 95 which has been heard in the Senate Judiciary Committee. Senate Bill 95 would make possession of three or less ounces of marijuana (approximately 120 marijuana cigarettes), excluding hashish, an infraction punishable by a fine of not more than $100.

Senator Moscone's SB 95 is identical to SB 2157, which he carried in the 1973-74 session. That proposal failed passage in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

POLITICAL SIGNIFICANCE

Vehement opposition to such a proposal as Senator Moscone's comes from Attorney General Younger, the California Peace Officers Association, the District Attorneys Association, among a long list of others.

Recent findings by the California Poll would suggest that public attitudes on the decriminalization of marijuana have changed considerably since 1969 and even more drastically since November, 1972, when 66.5 percent of the state's voters voted down Proposition 13.

The 1973 California Poll showed that 51 percent of those polled favored liberalizing present laws. Los Angeles and Orange Counties showed a solid majority (53.3 percent) in favor of lesser penalties. The northern valley, including metropolitan Sacramento, showed an increase in support for liberalization from 13 percent in 1969 to 45 percent in 1973. In the San Joaquin Valley, support for lesser penalties increased from 7 percent to 35 percent during the four year period, and those favoring tougher penalties declined from 64 to 34 percent in the same period.

Like ACA 15 dealing with 18 year old drinking, the issue is two-sided. If one considers only the fiscal impact involved in the marijuana issue, a case can be made that much time and money can be saved under the new proposal.

Contrarily, the issue of legality vs. illegality cannot be dismissed. Whether it should be eased is the newest question.

Assemblyman Craven does not believe it should be. Neither do we. Nor do we believe withholding the names of those who become involved in marijuana sales or use would serve in a reduction of this crime.

Couple Here Heads Auction For Teevee 15

Ron and Roberta Donahoe have been named Go-Getters Chairmen for the KPBS-TV "Open Sesame" Auction in Lemon Grove and Spring Valley.

They will head a group of volunteers in one of 26 areas of San Diego, as they call on businesses for donations and support of the public television fund-raising effort.

The Auction will be aired over Channel 15, May 10-16. Ron, a dentist, was most recently chairman of activities for Children's Dental Health Week. He is an active Spring Valley Rotarian and a member of the C&O Businessman's Assn.

According to Dr. Donahoe, the go-getters will be asking for new merchandise, trips, services, and especially inflation fighting items. In return merchants will receive free television exposure for their business — and a tax deduction as well!

The goal of this year's Auction — San Diego's second — is $200,000. Channel 15 and its corresponding radio station, KPBS-FM, are supported by a variety of federal and state funds, grants, and membership drives. The monies raised in Auction will further support the non-profit, non-commercial station, and augment local programming.

This Week's RECIPE

Minute Steak Rolls Mexicano

Quick cooking beef steaks are equally as nourishing as more tender cuts. The trick to cooking the machine tenderized pieces of flavorful beef is to brown them speedily in a skillet. To give new flavor dimensions fill the browned steaks with whole kernel corn, cheese and green chili. Top with a savory sauce and bake briefly to bind the flavors.

6 beef cube steaks
salt and pepper
1 tablespoon cooking oil

1 (12-ounce) can whole kernel corn
2 tablespoons canned chopped green chili
1 cup grated monterey jack cheese
1 (8-oz.) can tomato sauce
1 teaspoon chili powder

Heair Tuneup Fight May Prove Stumbling Block

Cowboy Jimmy Heair will Mickey Davies had hoped to put a grudge rematch with pair Heair and Mayon in a re-bout within three weeks. But a prior commitment made by the Mexican-born San Diego fighter in Puerto Rico will postpone the affair until mid-April. Meanwhile, Heair is expected to have his hands full against Hernandez, a hard-hitting veteran who checks in at 28th, halting Gerardo Ferratt with a 39-6-2 record and 31 in five and regaining his status as a serious title contender. After the victory, promoter

Olympic Auditorium when he battered heralded prospect Bobby Hernandez into unconsciousness, forcing the youngster's ring retirement.

Last Week

They pitted a youngster with 12 fights under his belt against a pro with 94. Bettors had it 3-1 for the old pro — such odds make a match a farce.

While light-heavyweight Carlos Tijerina (11-1) made a valiant 10-round try against Ronnie Wilson (72-17-5) Friday night in the Coliseum's main go, he was hopelessly outclassed. Wilson won a unanimous decision but both men bled from eyebrow gashes. Tijerina appeared frustrated as the more experienced Wilson danced out of the way of many of Tijerina's undisciplined swings.

One of the major faults of professional fighting was exhibited in the fight. It's when enthusiastic young fighters compile a win streak of 10-15 straight fights and their confidence becomes a mile higher than their experience. Then their confidence is destroyed by an overmatch, youngsters seldom come back at a potent force. An old pro can. He has developed a proper mix of ability with confidence. When he is licked he knows it was his lack of ability. It doesn't crush him as it does a youngster. He just sharpens his tools and tries again.

Tijerina was completed frustrated at various points in Friday's scrap. He is now 11-2. If he rises again, it will be because he can read his own ability and can acquire the discipline that comes with experience.

Agajanian Event Booked at Oval

The 1975 automobile racing season gets into full swing at the South Bay Park Speedway in Chula Vista Saturday night with the first NASCAR Modified-Stock Car race on the 1/2 mile clay oval.

More than 50 drivers are expected to battle in the 8-event program. The race will pit the top NASCAR Modified drivers from the Los Angeles-San Bernardino area against the top Super-Stock Car drivers from the San Diego-El Cajon tracks.

On March 22, J. C. Agajanian's USAC National Championship Midget auto races will be headlined at the Chula Vista track.

First Entries

Bobby Olivero of Lakewood, Ken Nichols of San Carlos, and Richard Powell of Enid, Okla. were the first entries.

Agajanian expects a 40-car field for the night's eight-event racing program on the 1/2-mile clay oval. This will be the first USAC National Championship event at South Bay in a year.

Olivero drove his LTC Research V-W-powered car to victory in Agajanian's USAC Midget outdoor season opener at San Jose two weeks ago. It was his eleventh USAC career midget win.

Nichols captured the USAC 100-lap indoor race in Indianapolis a week ago, his first USAC triumph. The 1973 Bay Cities Racing Assn. champion will wheel a SESCO-Chevy-powered mount at South Bay.

Powell, only 19 years of age, was last year's USAC "Rookie of the Year," and won one main event at Kansas City, Mo. He also wheels a SESCO-Chevy.

Agajanian expects several Indianapolis-500 veterans to sign before race time. Among those is four-time USAC Midget champion Mel Kenyon of Lebanon, Ind., who won a USAC event at South Bay in 1972.

S/S/A-PSA Game To Spark Wave's Play Tuesday

The San Diego Wave, first in Winston Volleyball League standings, returns to the Community Concourse Tuesday, March 18, to battle second-ranked Los Angeles in the nightcap of a doubleheader.

During halftime, 12 PSA stewardesses team with leading San Diego sportscasters and sportswriters in an exhibition that promises to be a hilarious contrast to the struggle of the feature match.

Q's Hope For Playoffs Still Alive

The San Diego Conquistadors continue their bid for a playoff spot when they take on the Kentucky Colonels this Saturday night at the Sports Arena. Tip-off time is set for 8 p.m. and tickets are available at all Arena ticket outlets.

It will be the final meeting of the season between the two clubs. Kentucky has the edge in the seasons series to date, winning 4 of the previous 7 games.

The Colonels currently battling the New York Nets for the top spot in the A.B.A. east feature three all-star performers, including center Artis Gilmore, forward Dan Issel and guard Louie Dampier.

The game Saturday night is a must for both clubs. The Conquistadors are within striking distance of the fourth and final playoff position in the A.B.A. west while the Colonels have a chance of finishing first in the A.B.A. east.

The Conquistadors have been playing very well of late and coach Beryl Shipley's club has been encouraged by the plays of guards Bo Lamar and Billy Harris.

Both have been scoring well above their average and have contributed to several of the most recent Conquistadors victories.

The current six game road trip that could decide their playoff fate begins tomorrow night for the World Hockey Assn. San Diego Mariners.

The Mariners, locked in a three way battle for second place with Phoenix and Minnesota in the W.H.A.'s western division visits Toronto Friday, Chicago Sunday and New England next Wednesday.

San Diego has the second best home record among league teams but has won only 10 of 30 decisions away from the Sports Arena. Player-coach Harry Howell has stated that the team must win at least one and probably two of the road games to remain a playoff contender.

The Mariners are paced by center Andre Lacroix, their all-star center who has already set W.H.A. marks for consecutive games scoring and consecutive games with assist this season.

Ali-Wepner, Norton-Quarry On Closed TV at Sports Arena

The March 24 World Heavyweight Championship fight between Muhammad Ali and ex-Marine challenger Chuck Wepner, and another top-ranked battle between heavyweight contenders Ken Norton and Jerry Quarry, will be televised via closed circuit exclusively at the San Diego Sports Arena, beginning at 6:30 p.m., according to Lou Lake, local promoter and matchmaker.

Lake said the Norton-Quarry bout will begin at 6:30, originating from New York's Madison Square Garden, followed by the Ali-Wepner match from the coliseum in Cleveland, O.

The Ali-Wepner bout is the first heavyweight championship fight in America in almost four years. It is the first in Cleveland since 1931 when Max Schmeling successfully defended his heavyweight crown against William Scribbling.

Ali, fresh from a surprising October knockout of George Foreman in Zaire, Africa, is making his first defense of the title he recaptured with the early-morning victory over Foreman.

The 33-year-old champion has announced he will donate his purse—expected to be $1.3 million—to Black charities.

Wepner, a 6' 5", 230-lb. former policeman from New Jersey, won the American heavyweight title last year with a victory over Ernie Terrell, and has a 30-9-2 professional record.

Karate Champ

According to Al Braverman, Wepner's manager, the 34-year-old Wepner is also a two-time Marine karate champion and he said Wepner may use some of the "more legal" blows to fit in with his conventional boxing moves.

The 15 round title fight will be held at the $25 million dollar sports arena built by Nick Mileti, owner of the Cleveland Cavaliers basketball team and the Crusaders hockey team.

The second part of the doubleheader, a 12 round heavyweight bout between top rank contenders Ken Norton and Jerry Quarry will mark the second fight this month for Norton. He knocked out Rico Brooks in the first round March 5 at Oklahoma City.

In his last bout, Quarry scored a 10-round unanimous decision over Scrap Iron Johnson at Honolulu. Lake said the double header was arranged by Don King Productions and Video Technique, and that local ticket prices would be $12.50, $10.50 and $8.50.

The fight will be only televised at the arena.

Buckley at USD Wed.

William F. Buckley, author, editor and television talk-show host, speaks Wednesday at the University of San Diego's Cammino Theater at 8 p.m.

The lecture, entitled "Some of the Problems of Freedom," is open to the public. General admission is $1.50 at the door.

Coleman, Chandler Air Padres Games

Two of the Padres spring training games in Yuma will be shown on a tape delayed basis in San Diego on XETV, Channel 6.

The games picked for telecasting are the Yuma opener against the Cleveland Indians on Saturday, March 15 and the Saturday March 20 game with the San Francisco Giants.

Both games will receive prime time airing in San Diego as they are scheduled to run at 8 p.m. that same evening.

Regular Padre broadcasters Jerry Coleman and Bob Chandler will be handling the play-by-play.

Radio Games

All 22 of the San Diego Padres spring training baseball games will be broadcast live this season on the Padres flagship radio station on KOGO, 600.

It is the first time the entire spring training schedule will be aired live to San Diego.

The broadcasting chores will again be taken care of by veterans Jerry Coleman and Bob Chandler.

The first broadcast will be at 1 p.m. on Friday with the Padres meeting the California Angels in Holtville. The exhibition season will come to a close Sunday, April 6, with the last of a two game series against the Chicago White Sox in Yuma.

Padres Open Cactus League Play Friday at Holtville

While it may not be the real opening day as baseball fans across the nation know it, the beginning of the Exhibition season tomorrow, will be carrying just about as much importance to members of the San Diego Padres.

Beginning their seventh season of existence, the Padres will kick off the 1975 Cactus League slate against the California Angels at Holtville, which opens the 22 game exhibition schedule for second year manager John McNamara.

The Padres will be going into a Cactus League opener with just nine days of workouts under their belt yet McNamara is not at all concerned.

"After last week's first workout it was quite evident to us that the players were all in pretty good shape. So we extended the workout period from two hours to two-and-a-half hours," McNamara said.

"The thing that impressed me the most in these first few days of camp is that nobody reported in overweight. We had been concerned about a couple of the players. As it turned out there was no cause for alarm. Not only was everyone okay as far as weight but nearly all of the players were near tip-top physical condition."

"We've had a lot of pitchers to look at," said McNamara in reference to the fact the Padres have 22 hurlers on their spring roster. "However, we didn't want to rush right into intra-squad games and run the risk of arm injuries. So the three days of intra-squad games this week was about right as we're able to use about everyone in those games plus we'll be seeing a lot of pitchers in the first few exhibition games."

After about ten days of this routine we'll have a pretty good idea who will be the most effective for us."

On spring training opening day at Yuma Saturday Secretary of the Navy J. William Middendorf, II will be on hand at Yuma to toss out the first ball.

Individuals and organizations collecting all-aluminum cans and other household aluminum scrap are paid 15 cents per pound. According to Reynolds officials some of the more prevalent types of all-aluminum items are food containers and aluminum lawn furniture. All items should have steel screws, plastic and any other non-aluminum products removed before they are taken to the Reynolds Recycling Station.

The community is encouraged to bring all-aluminum waste products to the mobile recycling unit at Mission Valley Center West. The unit is located by the United California Bank in Mission Valley Center from 9 to 12 Noon every Saturday.

Wave members named to the 12-man All-Star squad are Chris Marlowe, Duncan McFarland, Byron Shewman, Randy Stevenson and Mark Warner.

Jack Henn, Wave coach, also will coach the All-Star team. Henn formerly coached at San Diego State, leading the Aztecs to national titles in 1968 and again in 1973. Suguru Furuichi of Japan is assistant coach of the All-Stars.

Japan is represented in the contest by Nippon Kokan, winner of the country's volleyball title four of the past five years. The team includes three Olympic finalists.

Prior to 1972's gold medal Olympic performance, Japan won the silver medal in 1968 and the bronze in 1964, the first year volleyball was played in the Olympics.

Other Winston League players representing the United States in the international contest are Dan Patterson and Larry Voeke, Los Angeles Feet; Ed Becker and John Zajac, Santa Monica-Long Beach Sails; Skip Allen and Tim Bonynge, Santa Barbara Clippers; and Doug Beal, Anaheim Hamm's.

Hexane is a liquid closely akin to methane and is a potential hazard if doses are taken over a long period of time.

Lecithin is a liquid which is sold in enclosed capsules. The contaminated capsules are easily identified as lecithin is normally odorless. The hexane will cause the liquid to smell and taste like motor oil or a similar petroleum product.

An estimated 37 million lecithin capsules distributed to California retail outlets within the past six months may be contaminated with hexane, the State Department of Health has warned.

19 Tay-Sachs Carriers Found in San Diego

An international campaign aimed at the eradication of Tay-Sachs Disease, a disease afflicting the brain and nervous system of infants, has uncovered 19 carriers in the San Diego area since the start of the prevention program here four months ago. Five other persons are being studied as possible carriers.

Headquartered at University Hospital, the program is one of 70 underway in major American and Canadian cities. The effort to track down carriers of the rare disease stems from Dr. John S. O'Brien's discovery of its cause at the UCSD School of Medicine six years ago.

Tay-Sachs is the result of a missing enzyme caused by a recessive gene. If detected early enough, the disease is preventable. But infants that have it are incurable. The disease results in mental retardation and death at the age of three or four.

The next screening clinic in San Diego takes place Sunday, March 23, 1 to 4 p.m. at Temple Beth El, 3410 Mt. Acadia, Clairemont. The program is open to the public. Technicians will be available for the simple blood test and specialists will be on hand for genetic counseling. Voluntary fee is $6.

A Mexican hunting knife, a .22 cal. Mosberg rifle and a .22 Colt Woodsman was taken from the house trailer of Israel A. Bond, of 10530 Del Rio in Spring Valley. Bond, returning home on a foggy night, saw a figure near his home carrying what appeared to be a gun case. When he got home he discovered the guns were his. The loss, he said, amounted to $100.

Three Guns
Three guns, valued at $475 was the loot of thieves who entered a window in the home of James Leroy Ruckman, at 9116 San Andres in Spring Valley last week.

Ruckman was away from his home when it was burglarized. A .25 cal. Mauser automatic, a 16 gauge McLocklin shotgun and a 12 gauge automatic shotgun were taken. The 12 gauge gun had his name engraved on it.

He said it was valued at $200.

U.W. Co-Chairman Named

Mrs. John M. Thornton, of Point Loma, is serving as co-chairman of the 55th annual meeting of United Way of San Diego County, to be held Wednesday evening, March 19, at El Cortez Hotel.

The committee which Mrs. Thornton heads is in charge of invitations, hospitality arrangements, decor and dinner plans. Clayton H. Brace, vice president, McGraw-Hill Broadcasting Company, and general manager, Channel 10, had been named earlier as chairman of the United Way annual meeting.

Richards is alleged to have offered one of the bills to Hillman Monroe Beyer, 29, a clerk at 7-11 Store at Massachusetts and Waite dr. in Lemon Grove on March 14 in payment for a six pack of 7-Up.

When Beyer suspected the bill of being bogus, he called the Sheriff's Lemon Grove office at which time Richards left the store.

A footrace followed with Richards tossing bottles at his pursuer from time to time. Beyer suffered a small cut on an arm when a piece of glass hit him.

Agents found five counterfeit $20 bills on Richards, it was reported.

No Burglars - Just Pot

A concerned neighbor reported to police that a nearby house was in the process of being burglarized.

Sheriff's deputies found several people in the house at 2526 Buena Vista st., Lemon Grove about 8 p.m., March 2.

During the investigation it was determined that Laureat Dennis - Frechette, 24, was keeping the place for James P. Tarantino, who was away.

As the officers checked for forced entry during the routine investigation of the reported robbery, they found instead 12 grams of marijuana, 34 grams of marijuana seeds and two pipes in a bedroom. Frechette is being arraigned in El Cajon Municipal Court on a charge of possession of marijuana.

Found Money Turned In

Irene Sing, a Spring Valley shopper, got more than she expected at the Elkton-Asburn Speedy-Mart. In the parking lot she spied some currency — about $100 in all.

She turned it in at the Sheriff's Lemon Grove office where it is now awaiting the rightful owner.

Transmission Missing

A four-speed "Munzi" transmission was taken from the premises occupied by Samuel Charles Deeter at 7718 Lester ave., Lemon Grove, he reported to the sheriff's department. He said the loss amounted to $250 and occurred while he was away.

New Pipeline For Kenwood Dr.

The board determined that the pipeline replacement project would not have a significant adverse effect on the environment.

Lemon Grove Review
To The Editor:
Re: Your article in the 2-27-75 issue about the "Crisis Cottage"

It was not a flattering article about myself, Fred Anderson, but I do appreciate the time, effort and space allotted to the "Crisis Cottage". I hope a few more people will now be aware of its existence.

I'm sure all those self-claimed knowledgeable people in the article will now be alerted that I appreciated what they have done to make us more widely known.

I know every man is entitled to his or her own opinion and I respect that, I just don't appreciate their strong criticism on a community venture that they spent so little time on that they were obviously ignorant of the over-all requirements for making the "Crisis Cottage" a great asset to this community.

Sincerely,
Fred Anderson
Director—Crisis Cottage

The article referred to here is the resignation, as a group, of 18 members of the Crisis Cottage organization.

A foreign-owned area throw-away weekly publication quoted Anderson as saying the people were fired.

The group said that Anderson was using his Crisis Cottage position to further his political ambitions: reference to Crisis Cottage was part of campaign placards in his recent contest for a seat on the Lemon Grove School Board.

Many of the placards were attached to utility poles which the San Diego Gas and Electric Co. security department said were unlawfully posted. He was ordered by SDG&E to take them down.

He was defeated in the school board election when he attracted 439 votes. J. Dorman received 1,254 votes; H. Reinecke, 1,234.

Big Praries

It's little wonder that the cowboy movies made a big deal about sagebrush. A 1972 study showed there were 422,275 square miles of it in the western states. This figures out to 270,256,000 acres.

SUNNY SPRING VALLEY — It stormed the day before and for several days thereafter, but Friday the sun was shining brightly for the visit of the son of San Diego's famed rainmaker, Paul Hatfield, who with his brother, Charles, are said to have conducted some 500 "rain inducing" demonstrations. The Hatfield's San Diego demonstration flooded the county, washing out dams and bridges. David Hatfield, left, is shown with Frank Parks, general manager of Rancho San Diego where a four-acre park was dedicated in the name of the Hatfields. David is an architect and head of the Architecture Department at San Bernardino Valley College.

It was like a second generation movie.

They could call this one "Son of the Rainmaker."

David Hatfield, son of Paul Hatfield, San Diego's famed storm maker, was in Spring Valley Friday to dedicate a park in his father's name.

He arrived just 24 hours after a storm dumped a near-record 2.22 inches of rain on the east county, flooding streets and overrunning gullies in Spring Valley and Lemon Grove. Hatfield denied the storm was advance publicity for his appearance.

But on Friday, the day of the dedication, the sun came out brightly making it a perfect day for the approximately 50 dignitaries and members of the press who viewed the ceremony.

Hatfield Park is in Spring Valley at Austin dr. and Ledgeview in Sweetwater West, the first element of a "new town" being built on the sprawling Rancho San Diego development. This element is just south of Monte Vista High school and already the hillsides of the element are dotted with new, owner-occupied homes.

Four Acres

The new park covers four acres and includes two tennis courts, a game court, a fully equipped and enclosed children's playground, picnic and play areas, two swimming pools and clubhouse facilities.

It is the second recreational park in Rancho San Diego. The first, a 4.4 acre layout is Hansen Park, named for a deceased pioneer resident of the area, Fred J. Hansen.

Paul Hatfield, for whom the newest park was named, died in August at the age of 88. His rainmaking activity in San Diego has been indelibly written in its history.

In 1916, during a severe drought, San Diego's city fathers acquired the rainmaking services of Paul Hatfield and his brother Charles by telegram.

A copy of a Western Union Telegram dated December 8, 1915 hangs on the wall of the new Hatfield Park clubhouse. The telegram instructs them to appear before the San Diego City Council. They came and were given a contract that required the Hatfields to fill Morena Reservoir within one year for which they would be paid $10,000. If they failed they would get nothing.

At Morena

The two brothers set up equipment near the 18-billion gallon capacity at Morena. Soon the rains came. Morena Reservoir was filled to overflowing in 28 days. But the rains kept on coming. So much rain that Otay and Sweetwater Dams went out, communication lines were down, 110 of San Diego's 112 bridges were washed out and San Diego was cut off from the world except by boat for several days.

Fifteen people lost their lives in San Diego's worst storm which washed away property and roads.

Then came the calm. It proved to be the eye of the storm. Lawsuits followed against the City for property damage. This excited the City Fathers to declare the storm an act of God. They disavowed the contract and the Hatfields were never paid.

In 1922 the Hatfields went to Sand Canyon for an experiment. They erected a six foot tower. On the third day clouds came and then the storm — a storm which destroyed the canyon, historians say. It washed out 30 miles of the Southern Pacific Railroad tracks and washed the few buildings and most of the boulders down to the floor of the canyon.

David Hatfield said records show an estimated 240 inches of rain fell there in just one hour. Fantastic!

500 Storms

In all they conducted 500 rainmaking demonstrations — all successful, according to David Hatfield's records. Their services were requested in Alaska for water to mine gold to Honduras for putting out fires that were burning banana plantations.

The Hatfields collected $8,000 in the San Joaquin Valley for breaking the drought there.

Charles Hatfield died in 1958 at the age of 82. He was 11 years older than his brother who died last year.

His son said that the chemical formula for making rain was never revealed to anyone. The brothers feared that the secret might fall into wrong hands and do damage irreparable. Son David said he hadn't the faintest idea of what the concoction contained. It went to the grave with his father and uncle.

Rancho San Diego, a totally planned community, will include residential, recreational, educational and business facilities.

Not less than 40% of its 4,620 acres is committed to open space for recreation and ecological preservation.

Divorce Ratio

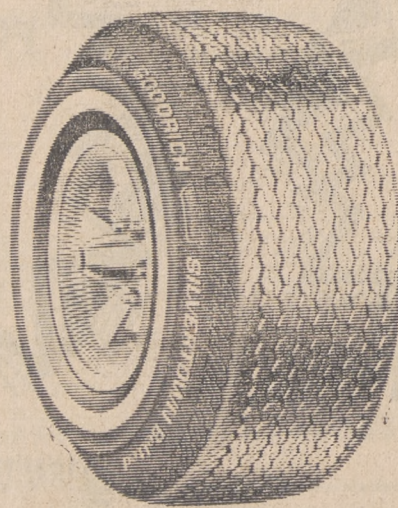

There were 63 divorced persons for every 1,000 married persons in 1974, says the Census Bureau.

LTCF Council Accredits LG Convalescent Hospital

San Diego Convalescent Hospital, 3780 Massachusetts, Lemon Grove, has been accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH) according to Catherine Menseri, R.N., administrator of the facility.

This accreditation is the result of an on-site survey made by a field representative of the Joint Commission's Accreditation Council for Long Term Care Facilities (AC/LTCF). Accreditation indicates that the facility has chosen to operate according to standards set by AC/LTCF and that the facility has, in the main, met these standards.

The standards, published as the Accreditation Standards for Long Term Care Facilities, set forth optimal achievable goals of excellence against which a facility can measure itself and be measured by an AC/LTCF survey.

S.D. Convalescent Hospital is one of approximately 2,000 long term care facilities throughout the U. S. to have earned this recognition. There are approximately 23,000 facilities in the U. S. that fall into the long term care classification, she reported.

JCAH is a Chicago-based, non-governmental, not-for-profit organization. In addition to long term care facilities and hospitals, it has programs for the accreditation of psychiatric facilities and facilities for the mentally retarded.

Common Cause Asks Reforms

Three reforms for the state legislature have been endorsed by Common Cause, the citizens' lobby, according to Harris Wagenseil, chairman of the San Diego office.

Common Cause will urge state legislators to open all legislative conference committees to the public and to extend the Public Records Act to the legislative branch.

Although records of the executive branch agencies have been available for some years, the legislature has not required the same access to its records.

"This difference in the availability of public records," said Wagenseil, "is just one more example of the kind of reform which the legislature has required of others, but not of itself."

Common Cause will, also, press for the abolition of the two-thirds vote needed to change the tax laws pertaining to corporations, banks and insurance companies.

Clown's Job Not Easy, Says Curly

By John Kowalczyk

He walks in wearing curly orange hair, a white face with a big red mouth, sequined bow tie, black and white checked pants and a pair of giant, floppy, red shoes.

Ringling Brothers Circus? Drive-in restaurant commercial?

No. The scene was Spring Valley's La Presa Junior High School library where the seventh grade class had gathered for a career guidance lecture on the art of clownology last Thursday morning.

Instructing future funny faces was Curly the Clown, alias Rich Wise, who at San Diego State teaches the only accredited course in his field in the country.

Curly was invited by Sharon Knight, La Presa's Career Guidance Counselor Intern, herself a graduate from Wise's school of clownology at San Diego State, to explain what it is like to be a clown.

The message that morning was that clowning is not just a bunch of clowning around. Wise, who showed up in Curly guise, stressed that a clown's is a difficult profession which he takes very seriously.

"People expect you to be funny even when you don't want to be funny. You have to get out of your own character and take on a completely different character," he told the group.

Wise holds a B.A. from San Diego State in Recreational Drama and has been clowning for six years. He has made frequent appearances on television and is seen at shopping centers, parades, and parties in the San Diego area. He has

Woman Gets Free Shopping Spree

Tuesday at 8 a.m., Domitila Pina of San Diego raced through the aisles of the Lemon Grove Food Basket in a five minute shopping spree. She won the free shopping trip in a drawing to raise funds for the Bobby Sox. $1100 was raised for the teams in the drawing. Frances Wildes, also of San Diego, won a 10-speed bike and Bill Bartlett, Lemon Grove, won a motor cross bike. Opening day for the Bobby Soxers is April 15.

turned down offers to work in traveling shows because he enjoys living here.

Among his buffoonish bravados are ice skating and water skiing in full costume. He has skated at the Sports Arena and claims the world's waterskiing endurance record for a clown.

Wise's course at State is not easy, he told the students. The fifteen-week semester covers about every facet of clowning from history and technique to juggling.

Curly made up the faces of three students to demonstrate three basic clown face types to close the career study.

Boot Sales Bring Charge To L.G. Firm

Fred Nobbs, 59, manager of the H-Bar-H Western Outfitters, 7423 Broadway, Lemon Grove, pleaded no contest Tuesday, last week, to a charge of selling boots made from the hides of animals on the endangered species list.

Nobbs entered his plea in El Cajon Municipal Court and will face sentencing on April 3.

Charges followed a complaint by the Sierra Club that the Lemon Grove store was selling boots made of alligator and kangaroo hide.

District Attorney Ed Miller's investigators found the boots in the store described in the complaint on October 11.

The corporation which owns the store faces a civil complaint for damages in a case pending in Superior Court.
